The Magic Question

One simple question that makes AI far more useful.

Let AI interview you first

Instead of explaining everything up front, ask AI to ask you. It gathers exactly what it needs, one gentle question at a time, and its answer fits your life.

I'd like help with [what you'd like help with]. Before you answer, please ask me questions one at a time until you have everything you need. Then give me your best suggestion.

Three ways to use it

1

A thoughtful gift

I'd like help choosing a gift for [who it's for]. Before you answer, please ask me questions one at a time until you have everything you need. Then suggest three ideas.

2

A weekend you'll love

I'd like help planning a lovely weekend. Before you answer, please ask me questions one at a time until you have everything you need. Then suggest a simple plan.

3

A tricky message

I need to write a message to [who] about [the situation]. Before you write anything, please ask me questions one at a time until you understand what I'd like to say and how I'd like it to sound. Then write a draft for me to review.

Little tips

- Answer in your own words. Short answers are perfectly fine.
- Say “skip” to any question you'd rather not answer.
- Had enough questions? Say “That's enough, please give me your suggestion now.”
- Never share passwords, bank details or other people's private information.

One line for any request

Before you answer, please ask me questions one at a time.

Save it in your phone's notes so it's always ready.

Look what you can do! ✨

Imagine simply talking to AI like this. Hello, AI! shows you how. Want your AI to remember you? That's Your AI Helper.

Onwards with confidence and a whole lot of wonder.
